

DAILY UNION VEDETTE.
SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 22, 1862.

Outward the March of Improvement.

On other occasions we have congratulated the citizens of Utah on the marked improvements going on all around us, and we are always happy to chronicle each evidence of advancement in prosperity. We have already noted the many substantial improvements in the shape of fine fire-proof buildings in process of erection in Salt Lake City. Did not the demands of trade absolutely require increased facilities, those strides onward would not be made. Patriotism and public spirit will do a great deal in many matters, but when we see shrewd business men tearing down their little frame concern which have sufficed for years, and investing twenty and thirty thousand dollars for storehouses, much as we should do to commend their spirit, we accept their outlay as a convincing evidence that the community is prosperous, and increased and increasing business are the foundation of their course. A few days since we had the pleasure of announcing the early establishment of lines of tri-weekly stages to and from the Boise and Bannack mines. The country in the immediate vicinity of Salt Lake is being actively prospected for minerals. Several companies are hard at work running and sinking shafts, and the prospect is most cheering.

This morning we have the pleasure of announcing that on Thursday evening a Company with ample Capital, was organized for the immediate erection of a quartz mill for crushing and working the ore of West Mountain. Plans were submitted and adopted as to the construction of the mill, the number of stamps, motive power, and all other necessary details. The Company propose immediately sending to the West for the necessary machinery, and the lumber for the building will be gotten out and put together in the shortest possible space of time. The gentlemen engaged in this undertaking are imbued with the right spirit, and as evidence of their confidence in the silver leads already discovered in this vicinity, promptly subscribed Capital sufficient not merely to warrant a commencement, but also to ensure the early completion of the mill.

It is with pleasure that we chronicle this movement towards the erection of the first silver mill in Utah Territory, and those engaged in it are well satisfied that the result will be remunerative to all concerned. It is all very well for "slow coaches" to sneer at the efforts of those who are trying to develop—not merely trying, but who are determined to develop the resources of the Territory, but when men of shrewd business qualifications invest their thousands in such undertakings as that above mentioned, sneers and jeers go for very little with sensible folks. Perhaps there is neither "gold nor silver in Utah," but if there is not, somebody is most egregiously mistaken. Ledges of mineral bearing ore here have been assayed, careful estimates made, and the organization of the mill company is one of the results. We congratulate the community on this, because we know (as does every body else with brains enough to add up a column of figures, or edit a newspaper,) that the opening of mines and the erection of mills, will add prosperity to every class of society, and to all branches of industry. The most enterprising—mayhap the most lucky—may, it is true, carry off the great prizes; but all, from the highest to the lowest, the farmer, the artisan, the laborer, will receive a part of the benefits. Let the good work go on. We wish the new company all the success which their new enterprise certainly merits.

GYMNASTIC CLUB.—The exhibition given by the Camp Douglas Gymnastic Club, on Thursday evening last, was numerously attended, and but for the weather (threatening at the time) they would most assuredly have had, as they richly merit, a crowded house. There is and can be but one opinion as to the performances of the Club, viz: that they can hardly be equalled and never excelled.

Review of Camp Douglas.

The troops at Camp Douglas were reviewed on yesterday by Brigadier General Connor, Commanding the District, commencing at 10 o'clock, a. m., and ending about 1 o'clock, p. m. All the Companies of the 2d Cavalry, and 3d Infantry, C. V., together with Companies A and B, 1st Cavalry, Nevada Volunteers, were out, and the day turned out unexpectedly pleasant, the spectacle was well worth the trouble taken by a large number of citizens who visited Camp for the purpose of seeing so imposing a sight.

The troops performed the various evolutions ordered, most magnificently, and the wheeling of the various Companies while passing in review, both at ordinary time and at double quick, was faultless.

MILITARY FUNERAL.—At the order of the Post Commander, there will be an appropriate military procession and funeral escort this morning at 11 o'clock, accompanying the remains of the soldiers killed by Indians on the Overland Mail Route last summer, whose sad relics were brought to Camp Douglas yesterday. The procession will leave Camp Douglas at 11 precisely, and the bodies will be buried at the Cemetery, with the customary military honors.

The Good Templars will join as a body in the procession, as a mark of regard for the memory of such of the slain as were members of that Order.

St. Patrick's Day at Camp Connor.

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend a grand Ball and partake of a sumptuous supper, given by the Idaho Lodge No. 1 of L. O. of G. T., at Camp Connor on the anniversary of the birth of Saint Patrick.

As that most illustrious personage came into this breathing world on the 17th of March several centuries ago, and we did not receive the invitation until the 18th of March, 1864, a day after the (af) fair, we could't very well avail ourselves of the kindness of our friends up in Idaho—to say nothing about long roads, editorial duties here, etc., etc., rather numerous to mention just now. However, our best wishes were there, and that must suffice for this time.

Counter Despatch Concerning U. S. Consul Blake.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23d.
SAILED—Ship Skylark, for Bakers' Island.

A letter, dated Manzanillo, February 29th, states that U. S. Consul Blake was then exercising his Consular function, and would continue to do so, unless relieved by the U. S. Government. This renders it probable that the accounts of the circumstances attending the homicide, his conviction of murder, death sentence and subsequent escape from the prison of Colima were exaggerated. Blake's friends say that early in the winter he made enemies of one of the rival wrecking parties for the treasure of the Golden Gate, and that he also became obnoxious to the Mexican officers, who improperly favor the wreckers as against the agents and underwriters.

Arrival of Anthracite—Decline in Sugars—Weather Again Dry in California—Meeting of Union State Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.
Anthracite coal has been received here per ships Carrier Dove, Mary Robinson and Success. It goes into store, as the highest prices at the present rates would not cover its cost. A large auction sale of raw sugars here to-day establishes a decline of 1c. per lb., within the week.

The weather is again dry; the ground having been but partially moistened by the last rains. Breadstuffs are unsettled; best wheat at 2c. per lb.

The Union State Convention assembles at Sacramento to-day, and will be largely attended.

In the House to-day, McClurg rising to a personal explanation repeated and sought to prove certain charges heretofore made against his colleague, Blair; he indulged in severe personal reflections upon Blair, who asked that a special committee be appointed to examine into the charges made by McClurg, whom Blair pronounced an infamous liar and scoundrel; much excitement, confusion and disorder prevailed throughout the proceedings, a resolution was passed appointing a committee to inquire into the allegations of McClurg. Higby, Clay and Pray, were appointed such committee.

NEW YORK, March 23d.

A special to the Commercial, says: McDougal endeavored yesterday to force before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations—of which he is a member—some sort of report either for or against the French invasion of Mexico. Failing in this he fell back upon resolutions he subsequently introduced; and upon which he will endeavor to speak in a few days, insisting that it is the duty of Government to interpose in behalf of Mexico even at the risk of war.

Total strength of the rebel Army.

New York, March 25th. The Baltimore correspondent of the N. Y. World gives the following as the exact strength of the rebel army on March 20th: Department of Virginia, Gen. Reeder's command at headquarters with an army of seven divisions of infantry, seventy thousand men; two hundred and fifty pieces of artillery with five thousand men; fifteen regiments of cavalry fifteen thousand men, at Richmond and vicinity, under Elsey. St. Petersburg, Weldon, Goldsboro, Wilmington, and along the railroad between Richmond and Wilmington under Gen. Pickett and Gen. Barclay, thirty thousand. Under Gen. Imboden and Col. Mosby near the line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and in Northern Virginia, five thousand. From Lynchburg to Abingdon, in South Western Virginia, guarding the line of the Great Southern Railroad, from Lynchburg to Longstreet's pickets in East Tennessee, under Gen. J. C. Breckinridge, five thousand. Total under Gen. Lee's orders, one hundred and thirty thousand. Department of the South-west, Gen. L. Polk commanding, head-quarters Demopolis, near Selma, Alabama, including forces under Gen. Joe Johnston at Dalton and operating against General W. T. Sherman, in Grant's late department, including also the corps of Gen. Hardee, twenty thousand strong, (part of which was recently sent to Florida,) and cavalry under Forrest, Richardson, S. D. Lee and Wirt Adams, seventy-five thousand. In East Tennessee under Longstreet, head-quarters at Bull's Gap, twenty thousand. Department of the Gulf, until recently commanded by Beauregard, head-quarters, Charleston, troops at Charleston and Savannah, thirty thousand. Trans-Mississippi Department, Lieut.-Gen. ### Testimony of Gen. Hancock Before the Committee on the Conduct of the War.

New York, March 24. The World says the testimony of Gen. Hancock, before the Committee on the Conduct of the War in relation to the battle of Gettysburg, is to the effect that on the morning of the 1st of July, Gen. Meade directed him to proceed to the front and assume command of the 1st, 3rd and 11th corps. Upon arriving at Gettysburg he found that the 1st and 11th had been driven back, and were in considerable confusion. He relieved Gen. Howard, and proceeded to form a line on which an engagement might be fought, this being in accordance with Meade's instructions. He was engaged in forming a line when the 3rd corps came up, and the position assigned it by an aid to Gen. Meade was to remain there, and the remaining divisions of the army ordered up. The line thus selected was one in which the three days battle was fought. Hancock commanded the left centre on the third when Longstreet was repulsed from his desperate charge upon our lines. Meade had nothing to do with the selection of the line of battle and trusted entirely to Hancock's judgement.

China and Japan.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 26th. China tranquil. The news from Japan is unsatisfactory. The Princes were endeavoring to exclude foreign trade at Yokohama.

Ranney. Two hundred and eleven votes were cast by Vallandigham men; two hundred and fifteen being necessary to a choice, Geo. E. Pugh and Thomas W. Bartley, were chosen Senatorial Electors on the Presidential ticket. Resolutions were adopted opposing the prosecution of the war for the subjugation of the States. That the mob spirit now abroad was the result of violation of the Constitution by the party in power. That the tyranny of the present Administration has sown the seeds, and we are now reaping the harvest of crime. A full State ticket was nominated.

KNOXVILLE, March 23.

No hostile demonstrations at the front. Longstreet is reported to be preparing to visit his friends in Kentucky.

Section 13th. The recorder shall go upon the ground with any and all parties desiring to locate claims, and shall be entitled to receive for such services one dollar and fifty cents for each claim located. It shall be his further duty to measure any claim or claims and make or cause to be made good and sufficient landmarks defining said claim or claims, and he is prohibited from making any location for any person or company without complying with this section and their boundaries fully defined.

Section 14th. These rules or mining laws may be altered or amended by a two-thirds vote of the claim-holders present at any meeting in the district, at any time, after thirty days' notice of such intention shall have been given in the manner prescribed above for calling a new election for recorder.
